EXCURSION STEAMERS TOUCH WHILE ON LOWER POTOMAC.

No Material Damage Results-Reports by the Captains-Investigation to Be Made. The side-long collision which occurred about sixty miles down the river yesterday afternoon between the Norfolk and Washington line excursion steamer Jamestown and the Colonial Beach line excursion steamer St. Johns, causing considerable excitement among the passengers, but resulting in no material damage to either vessel, will be made the subject of a formal investigation by the chief steamboat inspectors for this district. The captains of both steamers today filed their respective reports of the affair with the inspectors. In due time both masters will be summoned for examination.

The steamers came together with a slight impact while running side by side, with the Jamestown somewhat in the lead, at a point where the channel sets toward the Maryland shore. Both vessels were steamng at top notch speed, but the concussion as they rubbed against one another was not of sufficient force to cause damage of any consequence. In a minute the boats drew apart and proceeded on their way.

When the collision occurred the passengers on each steamer were crowded on the side next to that of the other craft. Some disorder and confusion followed the impact and it is stated that one or two women fainted and some men made a rush for the life preservers, but in a short time the excitement subsided. Both boats returned to their respective wharves here in good condition. The only apparent result of the accident was a discoloration on the side of the Jamestown where some paint was rubbed off.

Resulted From Suction.

According to statements made today by representatives of both lines the affair resulted from the suction which occurs when two vessels are moving rapidly in close proximity. The steamers had set a swift pace all the way down the river after leaving Alexandria and had kept close together, the Jamestown being generally in the lead. As they neared the Maryland shore the bcats came alongside a little closer than before and were drawn into contact by the force of the suction. Capt. R. B. Reed of the Jamestown, in speaking of the matter today, said that his vessel had maintained the lead almost all the way down the river and had constantly attempted to get entirely away from the St. Johns, which, however, Capt. Reed said, hung on tenaciously, sometimes forging slightly ahead.

According to Capt. Reed's version the St. Johns had come up to close quarters the maryiana channel and was caught by the suction and forced against the Jamestown. The captain said he had seen no great excitement among the passengers. If any life preservers were secured the action had escaped his notice. The affair, Capt. Reed thought, while regrettable, was not of any great moment. He maintained that within his rights in keeping his vessel in the course it was following when Ascribed to Same Course.

Capt. A. A. Richards, who was in command of the St. Johns, could not be seen when a reporter called at the office of the company today, the captain having left this morning with his vessel on the usual trip down the river. Representatives of the company, however, stated that he had promptly reported the occurrence to the inspectors. Upon the information of the captain of the St. Johns they ascribed the accident to the same cause to which it was attributed by the captain of the Jamestown, by they stated the belief that it was due primarily to an effort on the part of the Jamestown to maintain a reputation for superior speed.

Aboard the St. Johns were more than 2,000 passengers, the destination being Colonial Beach. The Jamestown had a much smaller passenger list. Her trip was an excursion to the waters of the lower Potomac, and return. The inspectors who will conduct the investigation are Messrs. Charles W. Wright and Edwin F. Wright, whose headquarters are in Baltimore.

Both Captain Richards and Captain Reed are men of long experience in the management of excursion steamers on the Po-tomac. Their record in that line is said to be remarkably free from accidents.

SET OFF FIRE CRACKERS. Charge Against Attorney Ambrose

Who Forfeits One Dollar.

William E. Ambrose, the attorney, was named as defendant in the Police Court today, but, not caring to have himself for a client, he refused to respond when the col-lateral list was called and make a legal fight for the return of one dollar. The recording of his name upon the records of the court called forth several remarks calculated to cause merriment. It was alleged in a sworn complaint against the attorney that he wilfully set off firecrackers on the public highway, there being no assertion, however, that he did so for the amusement of a small boy who was probably unable to part with a nickel for the purpose of

It happened that "the aforesaid firecrackers" and "the aforesaid William E. TRANSFERRED FROM DEPOTS. Colored Man Probably Fatally Hurt Plain Clothes Men Will Be Given Other Duty.

> Maj. Sylvester has decided to aband the detective service from the railroad depots, the change removing from the de-talls Detectives O'Dea, Berman, Sears and Sarbee. While these men are rated as dedectives they do not receive the additional npensation that is allowed the members of the detective corps detailed at headquarters. Under the law, it is stated, it is incumbent upon the police department to have members of the force detailed at the railroad stations, but the law does not railroad stations, but the law does not stipulate that they shall wear plain clothes. Uniformed policemen have always been provided for duty about the stations and the work of the detectives has not conflicted with their duties.

The change noted is to be made and the four detectives ordered to street duty, it it stated, in order to reduce the number of details of active men. There are some members of the department who have seen years of service and who are not physically able to do stret duty, but who will be able to spend their time about the railroad stations. Instead of pensioning such men they will be kept on duty by being provided with such easy details.

It is believed to be likely that one of the four detectives mentioned will be selected to fill the vancancy caused by the promotion of Detective Peck.
